Kentucky's Just in Time Training is a web based service program designed to connect foster parents, kinship or other caregivers with online training, peer experts, and other resources. The website will offer answers and practical solutions to care for children.

CHFS has partnered with University of South Florida to launch this website on March 16, 2020. Training topics have been reviewed and designated videos are approved for online credit hours. These trainings will be available to DCBS and PCP partners. There is no log in required. However, the parent will have to watch the video in its entirety in order to take the quiz at the end. The quiz certificate will be issued to the family for online credit hours.

Documents and resources are also available on this website at www.JITKentucky.org . There will also be links to all the resources and supports available to families in Kentucky.
