

Did You Know?

The profession of social work was founded on a set of core values and principles that still guide its unique purpose and perspective today. These core values include service, social justice, inherent dignity and worth of the person, importance of human relationships, integrity, and competence.

For more than 100 years, social workers have helped millions of people challenge their circumstances and change their lives, and pushed institutions to value and support persons in need.

This constellation of core values reflects what is unique to the social work profession. Your steadfast commitment to these core values is evidenced in the tireless efforts you make each day to improve the lives of Kentucky's children and families, and is recognized as among the nation's finest.

Thank you for your service. Thank you for making a difference!

"Did You Know?" is brought to you weekly from the Coordinating Services for Children Workgroup.
